

GOMEZ SIGNS; HOLDOUT ENDS

Star Southpaw Says Club Met His Demands; Richards To Start For Giants.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 7.—Vernon (Lefty) Gomez, star left-hander, joined the New York Yankees as they sent through their training paces on Miller Huggins field today. Gomez had been a steadfast holdout, but (according to him) the club officials agreed yesterday to meet his terms and he signed his contract. He predicts at least 20 victories.

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., March 7.—Manager Bill Terry of the world's champion Giants announced today that Paul Richards will start the season as his first string catcher. Gus Mancuso, who has been ill in Houston, telephoned Terry last night that he would report on March 15, but Bill doesn't expect him to be able to play before the middle of May. Terry also announced that Travis Jackson would start the season at short.

ORLANDO, Fla., March 7.—Bob Quinn, general manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers, arrived here today and found four members of the squad still unsigned to contracts. They are Hack Wilson, Al Lopez, Ray Benge and Jimmy Jordan. Quinn doesn't anticipate too much difficulty bringing the boys into line.

NEW ORLEANS, March 7.—Word was received here at the Cleveland Indians training camp today from General Manager Billy Evans' offices at Cleveland that the tribe will present a much rosier picture when it takes the field April 17 than it had recently hoped for.

Earl Averill, rated as one of the most valuable players belonging to the Indians, finally gave in yesterday, it was announced, and accepted terms with the tribe. He was to leave for camp today to don his uniform.

Jimmy Burnett and Harley Boss, infielders, and Dick Porter, outfielder, were the club's only holdouts today.

Over 14 million acres have been offered for reduction in the 875,970 cotton adjustment agreements tentatively examined by the AAA up to February 21. Indications are that the total reduction in 1934 acreage will be more than 15 million acres.

Connie Starts Rebuilding A's

DEMPSEY TO BOOK BAER, HAMAS BOUT

LUBBOCK, Tex., March 7.—Jack Dempsey today was planning on promoting a 15 round heavy-weight bout in New York city this summer between Max Baer of California and Steve Hamas, the one-time Pennsylvania gridiron star.

In a telephone conversation with Baer's manager, Ancil Hoffman, Dempsey said he was told that Baer could be counted upon for a match with Hamas.

Dempsey said he expects a similar reply from Charles Harvey, manager of Hamas, whom the former champion queried last night. Dempsey arrived here to officiate at a boxing program.

Twenty-seven Ohio counties are named after Revolutionary War heroes; six after soldiers in the War of 1812.

Approximately 38 per cent of the mortgaged farms operated by owners in the United States were indebted for one-half or more of their value at the first of the year.

500 TO REPORT AT NOTRE DAME

SOUTH BEND, Ind., March 7.—Five hundred candidates for the 1934 eleven tomorrow will launch the Notre Dame university new deal in football under the stewardship of Elmer F. Layden, successor to Hunk Anderson.

Gridiron practice will get under way with Tom Conley, Joe Boland and Donald C. Grant assisting Layden.

State Relief Rrops

NEWARK—Lowest in more than a year are relief figures for the latter half of December as reported from the 27 largest municipalities of New Jersey. In those places 221,435 persons were aided during the half-month. This is a drop of 35,069 from the November showing of 256,603, or 13.7 per cent. The tally is also 32,914 below the 254,448 reported for December 1932, or 12.93 per cent.

Receipts at the late fiscal setto in Miami were about 5 per cent of what such mammoth encounters of the century once drew. But in those days they had encounters.

About This And That

BY THE SECOND GUESSER

A DELEGATION from here is expected to attend a meeting in Columbus next Monday evening when recreation ball will be the subject. It is called for all prospective sponsors and managers of a proposed major league of softball in your district.

It will be held in the members' lounge at the Y. M. C. A. Monday at 8 p. m.

Permission to use the Southern Ohio Electric Co. field in the rear of the W. M. C. A. power plant has been virtually promised by Charles T. Gilmore, local manager. It is hoped the field will not be flooded when time comes for the season to open. The location would have been available last year had the utility officials known there was going to be a league.

Although Pickaway-co has nothing to worry about in the way of tournament competition, many sport-fans will have their eyes on tournaments in various parts of the state with the Ohio tournament the goal of the various teams. Many hope to see George Vlerobom's Dalton team go somewhere although the class of the district in which it is located is known to be plenty fast.

AND now comes a yarn about Mr. Earl Young, who coaches basketball team. It will be remembered that early in the year, prior to the Chillicothe-Circleville contest, Mr. Young stated to Chillicothe newspapermen that the Red Devils would not have much of a basketball team. Now he is claiming a good chance at the state championship. It's funny what can happen during a short cage season. Young lost one of his keenest athletes, Pete Conley, in that tragic train-auto crash when two other popular youths were killed, but his cage team has continued its winning ways. Greenfield has twice felt the wrath of the Ross counties in their first game this afternoon, then should not have difficulty ousting Weston Thursday night. Marietta is the team in the district which competes at Athens that may toss a wrench into the Chillicothe machinery.

"The Play's the Thing" With Uncle Sam

With a plan before President Roosevelt calling for the establishment of a National Theater Organization on a loan of $1,000,000 from Federal funds, to subsidize the commercial theater, the first steps have been taken, it is believed, toward a national art theater under the sponsorship of Uncle Sam. Above are shown individuals who are likely to figure in the program. Mrs. Roosevelt is suggested as chairman of the advisory committee to guide the destinies of the organization, and the names of Mrs. Charles Sabin, Otto Kahn, Nicholas Murray Butler, and a host of drama patrons are linked with the plan. Arthur Hopkins and Eddie Dowling are likely to figure in the production end of the organization.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up". They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely. But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resist a substitute. 25c at drugstores. ©1931 C. M. Co.

"There's the doorbell again"

SUPPOSE daily to your door came the butcher, the grocer, the clothier, the furrie, the furniture man, and every other merchant with whom you deal? What a tedium of doorbell answering that would mean!

It would be even more impractical for you to visit daily all these stores to find out what they have to offer and the price.

And yet you need those merchants' service quite as much as they need your patronage. Contact between seller and consumer is essential in the supplying of human needs. Before a sale can be closed the goods must be offered. Every day, through the advertising columns of this newspaper, the merchants of this city come to your home with their choicest wares. Easily, quickly, you get the news of all that is worth while in the market-places of the world.

They are not strangers at the door, but merchants you know and trust. You are always surer of high quality and fair price when you buy an article advertised by a reputable firm.

Brown Assails Governor White's Administration

LANCASTER, March 7.—Assailing the Democratic state administration as "a far-flung political machine menace," Clarence J. Brown, twice lieutenant governor and three times secretary of state, today had called upon Ohio Republicans to unite for "a winning campaign."

Addressing the Lincoln Republican club here last night, Brown struck out boldly against Governor George White and members of his cabinet.

New jobs have been created "with offensive disregard of governmental efficiency," Brown charged. He censured particularly the state tax commission where he said 300 new employees have been added during the last two years, and the state highway department, which he asserted has been made "the great political finishing university of the state government."

URGES NO NEW TAX
Brown demanded that "no new taxes be levied for state purposes to add to the cost of living, to further burden those unable to pay and to embarrass business and delay recovery until first the extensive political machine of the present Democratic state administration is dismantled and the cost of state government materially reduced."

Although he has been mentioned frequently as a probable Republican candidate for governor, Brown gave no hint here last night as to his personal political ambitions.

"The personnel of the state ticket is of less importance than the fundamental principles upon which we stand, and our unalterable determination to make a winning campaign and return the government of our state to the people," he declared.

Brown also struck out against Governor White's refusal recently to take action against E. J. Hopple, chairman of the Ohio Public Utilities Commission.

"The governor sees no offense or wrong-doing in a member of the public utilities commission departing from the traditional role of an impartial judge and condemning those who seek a reduction in a regular and orderly manner of utility rates," he said.

participant in the noted Santa Claus bank robbery at Cisco several years ago, and Roy Thornton of Dallas, former husband of the notorious Bonnie Parker, now the gun-girl companion of Clyde Barrow.

Guards stationed along the wall opened fire as the convicts rushed for the walls. They attempted to scale the ladders but were driven back under the heavy fire of the guards.

RACED FOR WALLS

McArthur, Frazier and Finch fell wounded. Thornton and Hill surrendered.

The men got out of their cells by using a key they had made. They then broke a lock off a fire escape window and came down the fire escape. They raced for the walls, but were seen by the guards who opened fire.

Movies Help Children

PHILADELPHIA—Motion pictures make children think and feel and in some cases aid in their sleep, according to observations made by Dr. LeRoy Bowman, a Columbia University professor and a director of the Child Study Association. The main trouble with the movies, Dr. Bowman said, is that they depict more kissing than occurs in real life and too many murders.

Motiveless Murder?

Chicago police are mystified at the apparent motiveless murder of Eli Daiches (above), well-known Windy City advertising man, who was machine-gunned to death as he drove his car through one of the city's busiest thoroughfares.

rescuers arrived at the wreckage. There was no fire. Hallgren had carefully cut his ignition switches before the crash.

COLUMBUS, March 7.—Walter N. Bell, one of the four victims of the airplane crash during a snowstorm last night near Pettersburg, Ill., was manager of the sanitary engineering division of the Jeffrey Manufacturing Co., in Columbus.

At the time of the crash he was enroute to Chicago following a sales tour throughout the middle-west. He had planned to return to Columbus the latter part of this week.

Although Bell made his home at the Athletic Club in Columbus, he was a native of Ashley, O., in Delaware, where his parents now live. He is survived by his wife, who was visiting a brother in Illinois.

MOUSE IN CLOCK

QUINCY, Mass.—Living up to the fabled actions of the mouse in the poem "Hickory Dickory Dock," a frightened little mouse ran around on the face of a large clock of a gasoline station here during a fire. Somehow the mouse had gotten under the glass face of the clock. Firemen smashed the glass, and away scuttled the "cowering, temerous, beastie."

GANGSTERS

Governor White to supervise guarding of the three gangsters, declared in his denunciation of criminals that he "could not hope to maintain peace in the city unless these gangs are curbed."

He asserted that a political alliance exists between the underworld and certain politicians, but declined to make any specific charges. Local officials refused to comment.

OFFICE RANSACKED

General Birch also disclosed that the office of County Prosecutor Ernest M. Botkin, who is handling the state's case in the trial of Piepoint, had been ransacked shortly before the trial got under way yesterday.

At the outset of the trial, Judge E. E. Everett, before whom the case is being heard, warned against any demonstration on the part of the spectators. He threatened to invoke the contempt of court laws if a demonstration is staged.

"The jury will try this case—not the spectators," the judge asserted.

DEERCREEK-TWP SCHOOL NOTES

The high school concert, announced for March 22, promises to be a "New Deal" in musical programs. Upon looking over the program one finds such numbers as: A Trip to Old Japan, Reminiscences of Bygone Days. Also an original skit entitled Old Songs vs. New Songs. We also find a number entitled The Recognition of Russia. There is also one number on the program that we are afraid to announce, because we have only 350 seats and could not accommodate the crowd were we to announce it. Tickets will go on sale soon at the popular prices of 10c and 20c.

Miss West, Miss Campbell, Mr. List, Mr. Smith, Mr. Miller and Mr. Bowers attended the county teachers' meeting at Atlanta Saturday. They report a very enjoyable meeting.

Attendance this week has been unusually good, several rooms reporting 100 per cent.

Ronald and Francis Clark were transferred to the Madison-co schools last week. Donald and Ray will finish the term here to graduate with their class.

George Jacobs, Wanda, Wilda and Betty Estep were transferred to the Atlanta schools last week.

The senior class will go to Columbus next week to have their class picture made. In the afternoon they will visit such places of interest as: The Columbus Dispatch Printing Plant, The Ohio Penitentiary, The Ohio State Museum, and Station WAU.

Comfort

SUPPOSE a majority of Americans should become addicted to the habit of eating raw potatoes. There would be much discussion of the matter; professional viewers-with-alarm would assert that a diet of raw potatoes cause hardening of the arteries or something, and many good folk would wonder, as usual, what the world is coming to.

Under the circumstances, it would be the duty and pleasure of some deliverer after ancient evidence to discover documentary proof that people who lived five thousand years ago ate raw potatoes. Having established this, he could say to his alarmed fellow-citizens: "Nothing evil came of this ancient practice, for the world kept on growing better, as you see, and the race kept on improving until it developed our present perfection. If nothing happened before, nothing will happen now. Why worry?"

Do the ladies reveal their charms and endeavor to make themselves attractive to men? It does not mean that the race is decadent. They have been doing it for thousands of years, and yet virtue has survived.

Do the papers tell the story of men who steal and kill? It is an unpleasant state of affair, but it doesn't signify anything in particular. When recorded history began there were gnawers and brutes, and through all the years there like have thrived, the world becoming a more pleasant place in spite of them.

If human nature and its curious and lamentable functionings did not make a wreck of the cosmos when Babylon was in her glory, there is no reason to despair now. Human nature hasn't changed, nor has the ancient rule that like causes produce like effects.

The way to determine what the world is coming to is to look back a long time and then observe what it came to.

If the Old Timers add their usual percentage of exaggeration in describing this winter several decades hence, how the younger generation will be impressed!

Individualism

WHY are the people of the United States accused of lack of individualism and independent thought and tastes? It is because they enjoy a common desire for homes, radios, automobile, movies, books, music and theatrical performances? Does the culturalist demand that one man shall crave the radio, another desire an automobile and a third a book? This would be impossible on the face of it, so the wish of the individualist must be interpreted in the sense that no two persons should enjoy the same book, the same movie, the same kind of automobile and the works of the same composer.

If that is the kind of individualism the people's critics desire is it not already granted to them as near as such a thing is feasible in a country of the magnitude of the United States?

There are sixty automobile manufacturers in the United States, each making upwards of a dozen different models. In addition there are many builders of custom bodies for domestic and foreign automobiles. Obviously there is some individualism shown in the choice of an automobile. The same situation applies to the radio and to home architecture, and as for the public's literary tastes, they extend over the entire scope of literature from the classics to the lightest fiction. Thousands own radios but not all enjoy the same radio program.

"KNAVE'S GIRL"

By JOAN CLAYTON

COPYRIGHT 1932, KING FEATURES SYNDICATE, INC.

SYNOPSIS

Fear that Bill McGee, the racketeer, would wreak vengeance on her and her family if she refused to go out with him, caused lovely Patricia Warren to accept his invitations. Bill is shot by a rival gangster while in Pat's company. Pat rushes home in terror and her step-mother puts her out, saying the police are looking for Pat. Unable to find employment, Pat resorts to her card skill and plays professional bridge. Julian Haverholt, noted bridge expert, makes her his partner. While they are discussing business details at his home, Clark Tracy, the polo player and Pat's secret love, calls. She had met him once but he does not recognize her. Haverholt introduces Pat to his niece, She is indignant, but he explains later that he was thinking of her reputation and that it would be advisable for her to assume that role as long as she is to stay at his home. Accustomed to poverty, Pat revels in the luxury of her surroundings. Reading an announcement of Clark's approaching marriage to Marthe March, Pat experiences pangs of jealousy. Following the settling of a bridge argument, Haverholt wants to give Pat a gift to celebrate their coming to an agreement. She selects a roadster like Marthe March's. Noting Pat's disappointment when Clark goes away with his fiancée's family and breaks an appointment to teach her how to drive, Haverholt asks her if she is in love with Clark. She denies it. Days go by with nothing but bridge and Pat is exhausted.

CHAPTER TWENTY-THREE

"How much did we win?" persisted the girl.

"Eleven thousand, four hundred dollars. A big night, Patricia."

Suddenly, unexpectedly, Patricia burst into tears. Everything was all wrong, the world was all awry. Somehow, she had lost herself, her own identity. Somehow, imperceptibly but surely, she had become a big time gambler, winning from people unwilling to lose, playing fair, yes, but, nevertheless, for enormous stakes. She was accepted everywhere, but accepted because she played a brilliant game of cards, because Julian Haverholt was there to back her up in a lie. She had won ten thousand dollars in a single night. It seemed to her that she had paid for that victory in the coin of her own youthful decency, her own fineness, her own ideals. Under the spell of this man's personality she had yielded up her very self, had surrendered the right to live her own life in her own way. She was not Patricia Warren any more; she was Patricia Haverholt.

For a moment, Julian Haverholt looked at the sobbing girl in a kind of disconcerted bewilderment. Then, leaning over he gathered her into his arms. She wept against his shoulder quietly, hopelessly. No use telling him what was wrong even if she could have found words for the wretchedness and confusion of her mind.

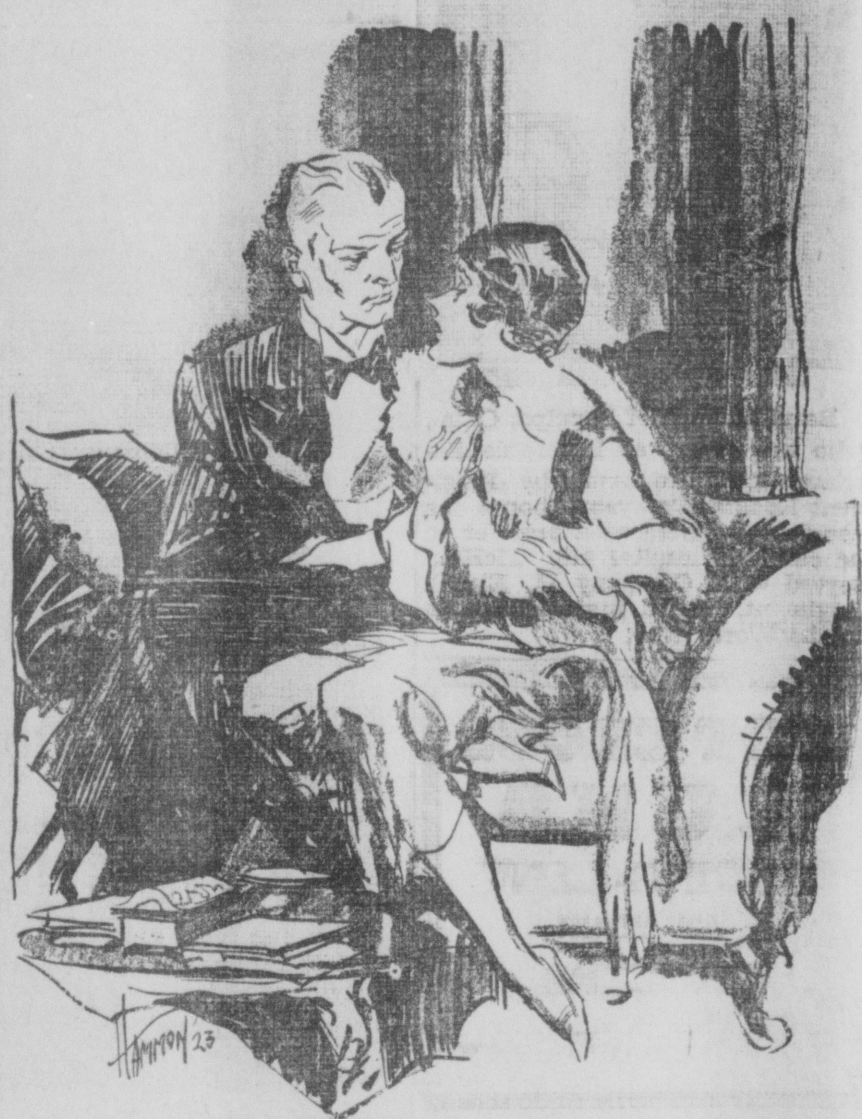

"There, there, my dear, dry your eyes. I shouldn't have been so short with you. I know you did your best this evening. Put my snappiness down to nerves and natural cussedness. After all it was a long session."

She allowed him his own interpretation of the tears. She regarded him bleakly, looking all at once so wan, so desolate, so pathetically young, that he said with bracing cheerfulness:

"I know you're worn to a frazzle, youngster. Maybe after the Blair tournament next week we can arrange for ten days at Palm Beach, or a cruise to Bermuda if you'd rather."

"Then, we're entering the tournament?"

"If Reuben Blair accepts our entry," Julian paused, said thoughtfully, "I don't suppose he will dare keep me out but he would if he could. That man hates me like slow poison. He's been hoping for years to catch me cheating some night."

"You're prettier in the gold, anyhow," he added defensively.

"Why?"

"A matter of dollars and cents and pride, Patricia. The old fuddy-duddy owned the bridge racket in this town until my appearance on the scene. What a shock that was to Mr. Blair!" Haverholt chuckled softly, continued, "Until I arrived Blair had the country fooled with bridge of the vintage of 1905. He handed down weekly pronouncements on the finer points of the game, he sold thousands of books that could have been written by a child of three, his imbecilic magazine was bought by bridge players all over the world. Mr. Blair, in short, was the oracle of contract. It nearly broke his soft, sweet old heart to be shown up by a rank outsider, by someone not even mentioned in the social register. He had always believed that the game of bridge belonged to ladies and gentlemen."

"But, you are a gentleman," Patricia protested, not really interested.

"A highly debatable point," remarked Haverholt, grinning. "I'm afraid I'll always look like a species of scoundrel to the boys who were born to high-hats and tail coats and long dull family trees. That suits me. I'm something that any of them would give their eye teeth to be—the greatest bridge player in the world, mademoiselle."

He bowed.

"Have you ever played against Blair?" asked Patricia, weary of his bragging.

"Never, and I never will so long as he is in his right mind. Blair very wisely gave up tournament bridge the year that I won the Eastern championship. Said the time had come to give the younger players a chance. There's a laugh for you, Patricia."

Patricia did not laugh. She hoped passionately that their entry in the coming tournament would not be accepted. Perhaps then she might have a breathing spell, might go on a cruise somewhere alone, might have an opportunity to win her way back to peace and sanity and clear thinking.

The following morning, Haverholt received in the mail a curt acceptance of the entry of himself and Patricia Haverholt in the Reuben Blair Cup Tournament. It was impossible for the girl to refuse to play. Haverholt had set his heart upon winning the cup from the hands of his bitter enemy. She could not let him down.

The night of Patricia's first public test found Julian Haverholt, usually so calm and controlled, in a state of extreme tension. In the first place he criticized her frock. Blue was an unlucky color; it made him nervous, always had.

"You're prettier in the gold, anyhow," he added defensively, conscious of her amusement.

"Isn't it had luck to change?" queried Patricia innocently. "It might make me nervous to change."

"Do you think so?" he asked, instantly alert and troubled and serious. Then, he saw she was laughing. He laughed too, termed himself a superstitious idiot, but nevertheless insisted upon the change.

"And, hurry, please, we must be there at eight-thirty promptly."

Presently, long before eight-thirty, Patricia drifted down the stairs, wearing the gold frock, long, tight fitting, infinitely becoming to her hair and skin. Haverholt eyed her proudly, contentedly.

"If they gave the cup on looks, Patricia, you'd win it hands down."

"Those are strong words, my friend," said the girl, dimpling.

"Not a bit too strong and you know it, you vain youngster," he returned, his dark, handsome face brightening.

All the way to the Hotel Winston he discussed bridge. This was her first tournament. She must remember that tournament play was different. No chances tonight, no grand slams, unless she held thirteen cards in the same suit and then she must try to get a double.

"Try to trap your opponents into a double whenever possible, Patricia. It may mean the difference between the high and average on a board."

"Must we get high on every board?" she asked, feeling a growing and responsive nervousness.

"By no means. Don't try any gambling bids tonight whatever you do. If we can get high on four boards and average on all the rest we'll be way ahead of the players who try to force their cards. There is little luck in duplicate, remember that."

She became more and more subdued, Haverholt had determined to win tonight. If he lost it would be her fault, hers alone.

ROBTOWN

Mrs. Rosa Kennedy is real poor-ly at this writing suffering from the gripe.

Aid will meet Thursday, March 8, at the home of Mrs. Coit Wilson, assisted by Mrs. L. E. Foreman and Mrs. Nellie Fosnaugh.

Friday night, March 9, Miss Luella Abbott of Columbus will present a recital and Musicals at our church. Admission 10 and 15c. We hope to see a good crowd.

Miss Abbott is a good entertainer. George Arledge is moving this week from the Harrel farm, in Jackson-twp to the late Frank Ward farm in Scioto-twp. The farm is now owned by Cap Anderson.

The quilt the Aid ladies made was drawn last Wednesday night by Mrs. George (Huston) Fosnaugh of Columbus.

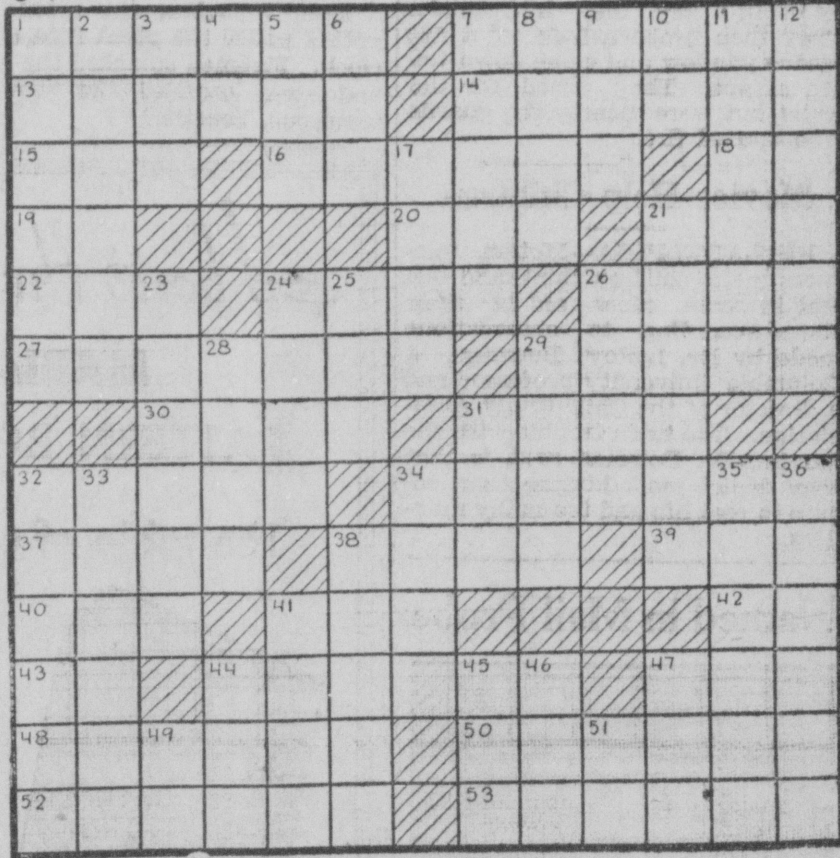

Preaching at our church next Sunday night, also C. E. meeting with Cecil Ward as leader.

Guy Hoffines is poorly at this writing, having gripe, and ear trouble, something which has afflicted Guy for some time.

The DAILY WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

NRA Codes, Frequently Flouted, Seem Going the Way of Dry Laws

WASHINGTON — The hundreds of complaints against the Blue Eagle at the NRA "field day for critics" boiled down to four basic indictments.

One — Overwhelmingly overshadowing all else, is the charge of widespread non-compliance. Practically every one of the hundreds who testified, regardless of what else they had to say, made this accusation. The record of the five-day debate shows beyond all doubt that NRA codes are being disregarded as flagrantly as the late dry laws.

It is obvious also that unless the Administration begins "cracking down" on some really big offenders, the Blue Eagle is headed for the popular oblivion.

Two — Many employers are flouting Section 7a, the requirement for collective bargaining. With great bitterness labor spokesmen cited scores of such cases together with the government's failure to protect workers' rights.

Here is one case that was cited: The employees of the Sigmund Eisner Clothing Co., of Redbank, N. J., went on strike to compel the company to abide by code provisions.

The controversy was laid before the National Labor Board. While the Board was deliberating, the company went into the courts, got an injunction against the strikers, and had five of the leaders arrested. The judge sentenced them to 90 days in jail plus a fine of $1,000.

The owners of the firm are related to Lester Eisner, State NRA Administrator, now vacationing on a Mediterranean cruise.

Three — Virtually all codes contain wage, hour, and price differentials between the North and South, with those for the South creating a definitely lower standard.

Four — Seventy-one out of the 200 odd codes now in effect, contain provisions requiring women to work on the same jobs for less pay than men.

There was a fifth general complaint, less frequently voiced, but still of serious proportions. This was to the effect that many code authorities are packed with employers, who not only countenance, but actually participate in, violations, unfair trade practices, and chiselling.

Political Surprise

Political circles are a-buzz following the announcement of Francis E. McGovern that he will seek a seat in the U. S. Senate as a Democrat.

McGovern was elected Governor of Wisconsin in 1914 as a Republican. Later he served as Republican District Attorney of Milwaukee County. Now he is running on "Roosevelt or Ruin" platform.

General Johnson believes he can clean up this Aegean stable. He is a man of action. But it is going to take some pretty strenuous flapping of the Blue Eagle's wings if it is to sound back in higher favor in public opinion. In fact, it will probably never get there.

Boss

Harry Woodring, Assistant Secretary of War, is becoming cautious. Once a ready spouter to the press, three appearances before a District of Columbia grand jury investigating army contracts have closed him shut like a clam.

As he emerged from his last session with the grand jury he was approached by a group of newspapermen.

"Sorry," said Harry. "But General MacArthur told me not to talk."

Note: General Douglas MacArthur, Chief of Staff, is Woodring's subordinate, but actually runs the War Department.

Shell Game

Democratic House leaders are playing the old shell game with the Independent Officers' appropriation bill amended by the Senate to restore $350,000,000 of veterans and federal pay benefits.

Having been amended by one body, the usual procedure would be to send the bill to a conference of committees of the House and Senate. If no agreement can be reached in conference, the measure is returned to the originating body for a vote on the disputed points. If it accepts the amend-all the customary fixing of the polls by the government party failed to prevent the Capitano's men from registering 71,702 votes, or nearly 2.62 per cent of the total.

Codreanu made another visit to Germany in the spring of 1933. His newspaper Calendarul thereafter blossomed out. By that time virtually the entire corps of university students was with him; nearly all of the urban youth, and some of the best families shocked their parents by announcing they had joined the Iron Guard. The statutes of the guard were, as one prominent Rumanian put it to me, "clearly worthy of the support of any decent citizen." The denounced corruption, lauded honesty, swore to cleanse the state and remake Rumania.

But most important for Europe, the Iron Guard declared that France was the real humiliate of the nation. It was humiliated that Rumania should submit to French influence. There was no mention of Germany, but the mere fact that the Iron Guard was anti-French was sufficient to identify the pro-German policies of the growing organization.

It grew too fast to suit the authorities. Neutral Rumanians estimate that if the guard had been allowed candidates in the 1932 elections they would have polled a good 300,000 or ten per cent of the total. Just before the elections the new Prime Minister Duca, dissolved the Iron Guard. A fortnight later he was shot and killed by an Iron Guard student on a railroad station platform.

Capitano Codreanu fled. So did Hitler after his 1933 putsch in Munich. But Hitler came back, and the party that was laughed at so short a time ago is today the master of Germany and the bad dream of allied Europe. And because of the example set by Hitler, Rumania today is not laughing at Codreanu. The astonishing thing is that the murder of Duca created, it is true, an initial reaction against the Iron Guard, but today Rumanians of high degree are saying: "It is a shame that Duca was killed. But after all that boy who killed him is the first Rumanian in two generations to risk his life for an ideal. And isn't it true that the state needs cleansing? Isn't it true that the nation needs a rebirth?"

So the lawyer got John to pick the next Olympic Games. (American News Features, Inc.)

The astonishing thing is that the murder of Duca created, it is true, an initial reaction against the Iron Guard, but today Rumanians of high degree are saying: "It is a shame that Duca was killed. But after all that boy who killed him is the first Rumanian in two generations to risk his life for an ideal. And isn't it true that the state needs cleansing? Isn't it true that the nation needs a rebirth?"

So the lawyer got John to pick the next Olympic Games. (American News Features, Inc.)

MISS DUNTON TO HEAD WESTMINSTER BIBLE CLASS

The Westminster Bible class of the Presbyterian church was delightfully entertained at the home of Mrs. Donald H. Watt, Tuesday evening, when it met for its March session. Mrs. Watt was assisted by Mrs. E. S. Shane.

Mrs. Charles Smith presided at the business session. Reports of the secretary and treasurer were heard and various matters of business for the year discussed.

The class is planning to sponsor an evening's entertainment in the near future for all persons interested, by bringing to this city Mrs. Depew Head, who will give one of her splendid book reviews.

At this juncture the nominating committee composed of the three past presidents of the class, Mrs. Donald H. Watt, Mrs. B. T. Hedges and Mrs. Blanche Moteschman, submitted for vote of the class the following slate of officers for the coming year:

Miss Florence Dunton, president; Mrs. Stanley Lewis, vice president; Mrs. Aletha Lucas, secretary; Mrs. E. S. Shane, treasurer; Mrs. Blanche Moteschman, publicity chairman. All were unanimously elected.

A rising vote of thanks was given the retiring president, Mrs. Charles Smith, for her untiring efforts in promoting the work of the class during the past year.

Mrs. H. Stanley Lewis gave a review of the book entitled, "Women of the Orient," which the class is studying.

The business meeting adjourned and a social session ensued. Much merriment was afforded as the various table games progressed. Chimes sounded in the dining

Mrs. Charles Smith presided at the tea table.

Miss Gertrude Pigman, this city, and Mrs. A. E. Hensstein, of Chillicothe, were guests of the class.

MISS HILL ENTERTAINS AT BRIDGE TUESDAY

Miss Pauline Hill, N. Court-st., was hostess Tuesday evening, when she entertained the members of her club and five guests at a delightful bridge party at the New American Hotel Coffee Shops.

Guests were Mrs. Herschel Hill, Mrs. Bishop Hill, Mrs. Dewey Speakman, Miss Juanita Hill and Miss Helen Crist.

Cards were in progress at three tables during the pleasant hours with favors at the close of play going to Mrs. Dudley Carpenter, Miss Esther Drum, Miss Ruth Stout and guest prize to Mrs. Bishop Hill.

Miss Frances Jones, E. Union-st., will entertain the club in two weeks.

MRS. BRAGG IS HOSTESS

Mrs. Harold Dowler was a guest when Mrs. John Bragg, Montclair-ave., entertained the members of her bridge club at an enjoyable evening of cards, Tuesday.

Two tables of the planned diversion were in play with favors for top score going to Miss Kathryn Marion and Miss Helen Steele.

Green and St. Patrick's Day symbols were used in the serving of a delectable lunch at the small tables.

MRS. TIMMONS IS HOSTESS TO CLUB

Two tables of bridge were in play at the home of Mrs. Willard Timmons, Walnut-st., Tuesday evening, when she entertained the members of her club.

When tallies were added at the close of the game trophies were presented Miss Florence Tolbert, Mrs. Lester Rummel and Miss Frances Barnes.

A delectable lunch was served at the small tables.

Miss Tolbert, S. Scioto-st., will be hostess to the club next week.

D. U. V. HAS REGULAR MEETING TUESDAY

Thirty members of Catherine Wolfe Hedges tent Daughters of the Union Veterans met in regular session Tuesday evening in the Post room at Memorial hall.

Comrade George W. Trimmer, Civil War veteran, was present. Mr. Trimmer observed his ninety-third birthday anniversary yesterday. The tent president, Mrs. Ernest Tolbert, extended greetings to the veteran and a birthday card shower was given him.

The enjoyable hours spent in contract bridge were concluded when the hostess served a delicious lunch. Mrs. Fries was winner of high score prize.

Next week Mrs. Mark Armstrong, W. Mound-st., will be hostess to the club.

OTTERBEIN GUILD ELECTS OFFICERS

The Otterbein church attended the revival services at the church in a body Tuesday evening, after which members gathered at the home of Miss Charlotte Hegele, E. Main-st., for their monthly session.

During the business meeting officers for the ensuing year were elected. Miss Jessie Cummings was reelected president; Miss Mary Elizabeth Groce, vice president; Miss Margaret Long, secretary; Miss Alice Cummings, treasurer; Miss Mary Ellen Kirkpatrick, stewardship secretary; Miss Pauline Accord, secretary of literature; Miss Eleanor Vandervort, pianist; Miss Virginia Cady, thankoffering secretary; Misses Lily Mae French, Louise Goldsberry and Dorothy Jenkins, collectors, and Mrs. Ross Kirkpatrick, patroness.

Members of her bridge club and Miss Evelyn Adkins, Miss Helen Hitler, Mrs. Edward Fries, Mrs. B. T. Hedges, this city, and Mrs. A. E. Hensstein, of Chillicothe, were guests Tuesday evening of Mrs. Ralph Wallace, E. Franklin-st., when she entertained with a delightful party at her home.

The enjoyable hours spent in contract bridge were concluded when the hostess served a delicious lunch. Mrs. Fries was winner of high score prize.

Next week Mrs. Mark Armstrong, W. Mound-st., will be hostess to the club.

WYNEKOOP

Wynekoop's favorite son, Earle, was found chloroformed and shot to death on an operating table in the basement of the physician's home here last Nov. 21. The unclad body was swathed in a blanket.

The elderly physician was charged by the state with having killed Rheta to get $12,000 insurance which she held on the girl's life and to free her son from his unhappy marriage.

Judge Miller will hear a defense appeal for a new trial on March 24. If the plea is denied Dr. Wynekoop will then be sentenced to the prison at Menard, Ill., where she must remain for at least eight years before becoming eligible for parole. Now 63, Dr. Wynekoop would be 71 years old before the parole board could consider her case.

"It's just 25 years more than a life sentence," exclaimed George Faircl, brother-in-law of the doctor. "I think she will die in less than a year."

Dr. Wynekoop was permitted a few moments alone with her son, Walker Wynekoop, and her physician-daughter in a court ante-room before being wheeled away to her county jail cell. There she renewed her protestations of innocence.

"It's a stretch of a verdict," said Walker. "I'm getting a $5,000 loan on some property tomorrow and we shall appeal."

Earle Wynekoop, the widower, was not in the courtroom. Throughout both trials he had remained conspicuously absent.

Burdine H. Gardner, father of the slain Rheta, was among the spectators and hurried forward to congratulate Prosecutor Charles Daugherty on the verdict.

"Of course it does not bring Rheta back," he said, "but justice has been done."

An overflow crowd packed the court room and corridors during the final day of the trial, listening with patience to five hours of final argument by state and defense attorneys.

CLAIMED HER LOVE

W. W. Smith, defense counsel, pictured the once prominent physician as a misunderstood mother-in-law who, because she loved Rheta as her own daughter, could not have committed the bizarre murder.

Smith contended that the killer was probably a prowler who had entered the Wynekoop mansion while Rheta was preparing for a physical examination to be given by Dr. Wynekoop. The attorney suggested that the girl's husband might have been the slayer.

WILL WAR COME?

Position of Rumania's Youthful Iron Guard Has Nations of Europe Worried.

FRANCE IS SKEPTICAL

Rise of Codreanu Puts Rumania In Strange Position In Case of War.

EDITOR'S NOTE—France worries about where Rumania will stand in the event of another European war. It is Knickerbocker writes in this article of his series "Will War Come?" The growth of the "iron guard" has given France plenty of cause for worry. Knickerbocker states that the party is plainly against any alliance with France.

SINAIA, March 7.—Seven concentric circles of rifle-men with fixed bayonets surround the palace of King Carol in this mountain resort where the sovereigns of Rumania make their home. Between each circle of soldiers stand policemen. Along the roads a score of secret service men in plain clothes bring the special talents of the Siguranza to help the military and police guard the life of their king.

In a sleigh drawn by two mountain ponies we drove in jerks along the snow path leading to the palace. It winds through a magnificent park of hundreds of acres of pine trees whose snow-flecked tops reach up and brush the low gray sky. Every hundred yards a guard stopped us and examined our royal pass.

Within sight of the palace at the regular entrance the guard turned us back. At another entrance the guard refused to recognize our pass. With a German engineer who lived in the palace we started down another road. Promptly the guard came running, and shoving a revolver in our stomachs he ordered us back to the military barracks. The revolver shook as the guard shouted.

MAY BE SIGNIFICANT

It shook because the wings of the arch angel Gabriel were shadowing the palace of Carol, King of Rumania. The wings of that angelic warrior of the hosts of heaven were shadowing all Rumania. And the fantastic fact is that the shadow of the arch angel Gabriel's wings has something to do with the question of how the next war, if it comes, may turn out. For Germany or for France.

Twelve years ago an eighteen year old boy, son of a teacher of German in a secondary school in Moldavia, brooded deeply over the national reputation of Rumania. The quips that Rumania's enemies pass upon her cut him deeply. "Manie" he heard a scouter say, "is a form of mental disease. Kleptomania is the form of mental disease that makes an individual steal. But when you speak of kleptomania as applied to a whole nation, you call it Rumania."

The boy hated that kind of a joke. He hated the corruption that he saw on every side of him. He looked for a cure and presently he found it in the doctrine of Professor Alexandru Cuza's antisemitic party.

The boy joined in every anti-Jewish riot. Presently, when he was twenty years old the boy had his big chance. The police prefect of Jassy had sternly suppressed rioting students. The boy shot and killed the police prefect of Jassy. Unknown before, the boy's name now became a headline in the newspapers. He was Cornelius Zeller Codreanu.

BECAME STUDENT HERO

Codreanu was handsome. He had a flashing eye, a magnetic voice, and when he spoke there was a something of the quality of a torch-singer in his voice. He was a mystic. He inflamed his comrades. And when he was acquitted of the murder Codreanu became a hero of the Rumanian student world.

He went to Germany, studied a while in the University of Leipzig, sniffed the incense of the growing power of Hitlerism, and returned to his own country resolved to become the Hitler of Rumania. He was more romantic than Hitler. His name for his party was "The League of the Arch Angel Gabriel."

Nights when all the villages were dark, Codreanu, now called "The Capitano," would ride with his cohorts through the countryside. Their horses were draped in white, and on the shoulders of the nightriders plumed white wings were fixed. Like the Ku Klux Klan of the old south, the arch angels would descend on a village, call out the shivering inhabitants, and threats of unearthly violence extort a promise of good behaviour.

SHOWING AT POLLS

It was all just good clean fun and the authorities laughed at it until in the elections of 1932 after Codreanu had changed the name of his party to the "Iron Guard,"

TROUT, WEILL ARE TIED FOR ELECTION JOB

Each Applicant Receives Two Votes as Election Board Has Meeting

IS UP TO MYERS

New Chairman Depends on Clerk Decision

Appointment of the clerk of the Pickaway-co board of elections was tossed into the lap of George S. Myers, secretary of state, Wednesday, when the election board was unable to reach a decision, Tuesday afternoon.

Names of Boyd Trout, 528 N. Court-st, and of Harry E. Weill, present clerk of the board, were submitted to Mr. Myers when five ballots were counted each time in a deadlock. Mr. Trout, a Democrat, and Mr. Weill, a Republican, each received two votes on each ballot.

FOLLOWED LAW

The procedure in such cases is to vote five times. If a deadlock exists after five ballots the names are submitted to the secretary of state for final selection.

Since Myers is a Democrat it is generally believed Trout will be appointed clerk.

Board members voting Tuesday were J. R. Hott, Robtson, and Russell Imler, this city, Democrats, and Mrs. G. G. Leist, this city, and T. J. Burgett, Orient, Republicans.

Mr. Imler was appointed last week to fill the vacancy left by the death of S. T. Rife. His term will last four years. The other three members are all holdovers.

AWAIT DECISION

The election board will not elect a chairman until the secretary of state announces his selection, because the chairman must be of opposite politics from the clerk.

The result of the meeting was forwarded Tuesday evening in a letter to Mr. Weill, writing at the conclusion of the meeting.

CHILLICOTHE, March 7.—J. Beyerly, Jr., a Democrat, was elected clerk of the Ross-co board of elections when that group held a special session, Tuesday.

Beyerly was selected on a fifth ballot over Manning G. Coultrap, Republican. William T. Kardin, Republican, named chairman, since the law requires that the chairman and clerk be of opposite politics.

Coultrap had been clerk.

LEAGUE NAMES H. S. HEFFNER

Citizens' Organization Hold Annual Meeting Tuesday; Lee is Vice President.

Harvey S. Heffner, 154 E. Mound-st, was re-elected president of the Circleville Citizens' League, when members of that organization held their annual meeting in the parlors of the American Hotel, Tuesday evening.

Mr. Heffner was unable to attend the meeting because of a knee injury and John C. Goeller, president.

Alfred Lee, Northridge-rd, was elected vice president of the organization, replacing Frank E. Barnhill, N. Court-st.

Ben H. Gordon, Watt-st, was named a trustee to succeed himself and W. M. Reid, E. Union-st, and John L. Courtright, E. Mound-st, were selected as trustees to replace Harry Heffner and Emmitt L. Crist.

The new board of trustees will meet within a few days to name a secretary and treasurer which positions are now held by Harry Heffner and Walter Nelson, respectively.

Talks of the year's progress and hopes for the coming year were made by Mr. Goeller, Paul E. Adkins, Mr. Gordon, and Ward W. Robinson.

BAUGHER, WILLIAMS BEGIN JAIL TERMS

COLUMBUS, March 7.—With their identities traded for prison numbers, E. M. Baugher and Langdon T. Williams, former president and executive vice president of the Columbian Building and Loan Co., today took up the drab routine of life behind the walls of Ohio penitentiary here.

The two former building and loan officials, who were convicted in Franklin-co courts of misapplication of the company's funds, entered the prison yesterday in the custody of Sheriff Ross Anderson. Neither displayed emotion as they were registered in the prison to begin their sentences of one to ten years imprisonment each.

Columbus Man in American Airways Plane Which Fell in Illinois, Tuesday.

PETERSBURG, Ill., March 7.—A sudden snowstorm that left the wings of a Chicago-bound American Airways plane iced with ice today was blamed for the deaths of three passengers and the pilot who were killed when the air liner plunged to earth.

All four met instant death as the ten-passenger plane crashed to earth on a farm four miles north of here. The dead: Dr. G. H. Waetjen, New York City.

Walter M. Bell, Columbus, O. Pilot Walter Hallgren, Chicago. Eugene Sexton, aviation editor of a Chicago newspaper.

The plane took off from St. Louis at 5:42 and 50 miles south-west of here ran into a blinding snowstorm.

WARNED OF DANGER

In a radio message to the Chicago airport, Hallgren, a veteran with 8,000 flying hours, notified his office that ice was forming on the wing surfaces and that visibility, due to the storm, was only an eighth of a mile.

Airways officials immediately instructed him in a return message to turn back for St. Louis. The order apparently was never received, for Hallgren failed to answer.

Residents here heard the big ship circle the town several times, hidden by the storm. It was apparently in distress due to the ice laden wings.

Shortly afterward the ship crashed on the farm of Orva Altig.

All four victims were dead when (Continued on Page Three)

American Youth's Death Is Mystery

WASHINGTON, March 7.—The mysterious death of an American youth, Ray Fisher of Cincinnati, O., while canoeing on the Euphrates river near Bagdad, Iraq, was reported to the state department last night by the United States consul at Bagdad.

The consul reported that Fisher was drowned on the morning of March 2, and that his body has not yet been recovered. He added that native police, believing the youth had been killed, have arrested five suspects.

Fisher was on a trip around the world.

CHILLICOTHE, March 7.—The Ross-co Democratic executive committee has endorsed Governor George White for the nomination for United States senator.

Aged - Woman Stoically Accepts Jury's Verdict; Protests Innocence

APPEAL IS PLANNED

Two Jurors Sought Death for Rheta's Murderer

CHICAGO, March 7.—Found guilty in the weird murder of her daughter-in-law, Rheta, on an operating table, Dr. Alice Wynekoop today faced with stoic calm the prospect of spending the rest of her ebbing life in prison.

A jury that required only ten minutes to determine her guilt last night decreed that the aged and sickly Dr. Wynekoop serve 25 years in the penitentiary in atonement. Two ballots were required, the first standing 11 to 1 for conviction.

The verdict was returned in the crowded, tense criminal court room of Judge Harry Miller after the jury deliberated for one hour and 35 minutes. Two jurors had held out for the death penalty.

Her only comment today, uttered in a tired, weak voice from her cot in the county jail, was:

"SUFFERED LONG WHILE"

"I have suffered for a long time. I have courage to suffer longer. I am not guilty."

Dr. Wynekoop, her pallid features accentuated by black ensemble, calmly heard the verdict pronounced without the flicker of an eyelash or a quiver of her jutting chin. No trace of emotion crossed her countenance as she reclined in a wheel chair beside her counsel. Dr. Wynekoop is suffering from acute arterio-sclerosis, the ailment which brought her first trial to a sudden close.

At the defendant's side, by order of the court, stood a physician with a heart stimulant ready while the clerk read the verdict. It was not needed, however. Dr. Catherine Wynekoop, her daughter, had forewarned the elderly physician of what to expect with a signal of her hand.

Need of Clothing Told By Society

Miss Southard Reports February's Activities to Benevolent Assn. Tuesday.

Need for mattresses, a sanitary cot or single bed, baby buggy, coal cook stove, window blinds, quilt patches, and clothing was stressed at the Benevolent association meeting, Tuesday, by Miss Clara Southard, social worker, who she made her report.

Donations from 18 persons totalling 183 articles of clothing and 21 miscellaneous articles were received during February. Miss Phelps reported. Forty-nine families received 192 garments and 72 miscellaneous articles including bedding, curtains, towels and soap during the month. Food from the association was given to 10 families. Surplus food was donated by churches and individuals to seven families. The association also assisted in giving out government food each week to 125 families. Feb. 3; 90 families, Feb. 10; 103 families, Feb. 16, and 104 families, Feb. 23.

Miss Phelps interviewed 122 applicants and 40 consultatives in the office during February; made 49 calls on applicants and 42 calls in behalf of applicants. Letters received totalling 4, written 4, cards of thanks 2, and meetings attended 5.

LIQUOR STORE THOT DELAYED OPENING HERE

Hughes Has Not Yet Asked Civil Service Commission for Eligible List

DELAY 18 OTHERS

Selections of Employees May Be Left to Director

Indications Wednesday, were that Pickaway-co's liquor store, to be located in the A. C. Wilkes block, W. Main-st, will not be ready for operation next Thursday, March 15, the date set for all Ohio's stores to be opened for business.

Advices from Columbus said that Col. John Hughes, liquor commissioner, had not yet asked the civil service commission to certify three Pickaway-co applicants with the best grades. It is certain that the liquor store supervisor will not be named until this list of three has been certified to the commissioner.

HUGHES TO SELECT?

It was being voiced today that the Democratic executive committee will have nothing at all to do with selection of the supervisor, Col. Hughes is said to be making the selections himself after he has closely studied the candidates in an effort to pick the best qualified. Ratings on civil service examination, past experience and character will be taken into consideration, Col. Hughes has stated.

Pickaway-co is classed with 18 other counties which are not expected to have their stores opened on March 15. The civil service commission has not been asked for eligible lists for any of the 19 counties. Other Ohio counties' stores will be ready to open.

TO SUBMIT OTHERS

Names of ranking candidates for positions of cashier and clerk in the liquor stores are expected to be certified to the liquor department as soon as grading has been completed on the oral examinations conducted last week. They will be handed down probably the last of this week or the first of next.

Nineteen sites have been approved for liquor stores, Frank Dietrich, supervisor of state stores, has announced.

Preparation has not yet been started on the Wilkes building to get it into condition to be occupied by the store.

MAN, 70, DELIVERS HIMSELF TO MORGUE

PHILADELPHIA, March 7.—Andrew Merkle, prosperous 70-year-old Philadelphia manufacturer, delivered himself to an undertaking establishment—dead.

Despondent because of a prolonged and painful illness, Merkle mailed a taxicab and ordered the driver to take him to "317 N. 52nd Street," the address of a mortuary. As the taxi reached its destination, Merkle drew a pistol and shot himself through the heart.

Mrs. Pyke Given Customs 'Plum'

Daughter of Former Circleville Hardware Dealer, Picked For Cleveland Position.

The daughter of a former Circleville hardware dealer has been handed a "political plum." She is Mrs. Bernice S. Pyke, of Cleveland, Democratic national committee-woman from Ohio, who has been appointed collector of customs in Cleveland. The appointment was made Tuesday when at the same time it was announced Judge Florence Allen of the Ohio supreme court has been named to the United States circuit court of appeals.

The father of Mrs. Pyke, a native of Chillicothe, was S. H. Secrest, a partner in the Secrest-Shaner hardware store, which formerly occupied the room now filled by the Beck Meat Market, W. Main-st.

Appointment of Mrs. Pyke as customs collector appears as proof that a long contest between two Cleveland Democratic factions has been settled with Roosevelt forces, headed by Senator Robert J. Bulkley, successful.

Mrs. Pyke was bitterly opposed by Congressman Martin L. Sweeney.

DATES ARRANGED FOR COUNTY MEETS

The Pickaway-co oratorical contest will be conducted April 27 at Commercial Point. The county track meet will be May 4 at New Holland.

FEAR GANGSTERS IN LIMA COURT HOUSE

HEAD DILLINGER PROBES

Philip Lutz, Jr. (left), Indiana attorney general, and Robert G. Estill, district attorney of Lake-co, Ind., conferring over the daring escape of Desperado John Dillinger from the Crown Point jail. They are conducting separate inquiries.

CHICAGO AREA BANKS GUARDED AS DILLINGER FORAY FEARED

Ninety-six Institutions Under Heavy Guard; Sioux Falls Bankers Say Dillinger Not in Robber Gang, Tuesday; Federal Men Called Into Case; Two Crown Point Guards Charged With Complicity in Escape.

CHICAGO, March 7.—While the search for John Dillinger, will of the wisp desperado and killer, centered here today bank officials and police in the middle west waited with apprehension for him to strike in one of his characteristic bold forays for funds.

Special guards were posted at scores of banking institutions here and in surrounding cities to repulse any raid the ace desperado might launch in search of funds to finance further operations of himself and his gang.

Ninety-six banks in and about Chicago were under heavy guard, particularly the National Builders bank here which, it was reported, Dillinger had chosen as one of his first objectives.

GUARDS HALT PRISON BREAK

Two Texas Convicts Mortally Wounded While Trying To Scale Prison Walls.

HUNTSVILLE, Texas, March 7.—Two convicts were critically wounded and another was shot in the shoulder when guards at the penitentiary here opened fire with shotguns and pistols as five desperado prisoners attempted to scale the walls early today.

Five prison inmates joined in the bid for freedom. All were captured.

Charles Frazier, sentenced for robbery with firearms, was shot just below the heart. He was hit by a blast from a pump shot gun and was not expected to live.

Frazier was one of the convicts that fled from the Angola penal farm in Louisiana several months ago—a break that led to the deaths of several officers and convicts.

ESCAPED BEFORE

Pete Fisch, sent up for robbery and burglary, was shot in the back of the head. His condition was critical. Fisch escaped from the Waco jail in 1933.

Edward McArthur, convicted at Galveston of robbery and burglary, was shot in the shoulder. He was expected to recover.

The other two convicts joining in the break were Robert Hill (Continued on Page Three)

SPORTSMEN MEET THURSDAY NIGHT

The Pickaway-co Farmer's and Sportsman's Protective association will have its annual election of officers Thursday at 7:30 p. m. at the Elks home, it was announced Wednesday.

The meeting is being stressed as a very important one with the banquet committee and other groups to be named. A large attendance is expected.

Men's Group Meets

Another of Trinity Lutheran brotherhood's contests will be held Thursday evening. Group No. 2 will be in charge of the program with E. A. Schreiner's committee handling the food assignment.

Gen. Bush Orders All Passes to Trial of Harry Pierpont be Taken up

JURY NEARLY READY

Machine-Gun Practice Alarms Allen-co Seat

LIMA, March 7.—A jury was expected to be completed this afternoon in the trial of Harry Pierpont, Dillinger "trigger man," as action resumed.

At the opening of court after the noon recess nine men and three women had been tentatively seated with each side, defense and prosecution, having only two remaining peremptory challenges.

Brig. Gen. Harold M. Bush ordered today that all passes to the court room be taken up on a re-issued claiming that he had heard gangster friends of Pierpont had obtained a number of passes.

With the city "jittery" over persistent reports that John Dillinger, escaped desperado, plans a foray here to free Pierpont from jail, Lima was thrown into a near panic today by a fusillade of machine-gun fire which proved to be merely target practice by the national guard.

"MUST END GANGS"

Only a while after Brig. Gen. Bush had warned that "gangs are over-running the city of Lima," at least ten rounds of machine-gun fire shattered the early morning stillness.

Downtown Lima was immediately beset by fears that Dillinger and his mob had invaded the city to rescue Pierpont, who is on trial here charged with the slaying of Sheriff Jess L. Barber last October 12.

The shooting was explained when national guardsmen, sent here to aid in guarding Pierpont and two other alleged members of the Dillinger gang for trial, learned they had received a machine-gun fire and were simply trying it out with target-practice on the courthouse range at 1:30 a. m.

TAX MEASURE FACES FIGHT

Opponents of 3 Per Cent Sales Tax Prepare For Contest In House.

COLUMBUS, March 7.—Opponents of the 3 per cent sales tax measure, presumably sponsored by the administration but introduced in the House of Representatives without the endorsement of its creator, the special joint session commission, sharpened their axes today for an attack upon the bill in committee.

Their objections appeared to be based more firmly on the 3 per cent clause than upon the principle of a sales tax itself. Many legislators who helped defeat two attempts to push a sales tax through previous sessions, conceded that present conditions make one necessary, but they claim 3 per cent is too high.

Rep. O. O. Burr, (D) Allen, tossed the sales tax bill into the paper a few minutes after Sen. Paul P. Yoder (D) Montgomery, chairman of the special commission, failed to get more than four members of the latter group to sign a report recommending passage of the 3 per cent sales tax and other important bills framed by the state tax commission.

Police Court

Alfred Hammer Harrington, N. Court-st, was released from the city jail, Wednesday, after promising Mayor Cady that he will make good several checks which he has allegedly issued without funds.

Harrington was taken into custody Tuesday afternoon and spent Tuesday in the bastille.

Clyde Bates, Snake valley, was fined $5 and costs by Mayor W. B. Cady for intoxication.

Allan Floyd Tarrton, is in the county jail awaiting hearing for intoxication. He walked into the court house, Tuesday, and went to sleep on one of the benches in the corridor.

F. E. Williams, 37, of Washington, C. H., was fined $10 and costs by Justice of the Peace Harold O. Eveland when he pleaded guilty to stealing a dog of Mose Rutter. He did not pay the fine and was committed to the county jail.

ST. SIGNS ABOUT ENDS

Star Soxman Says Club Met
His Demands; Richards To Start For Giants.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 7.—(Lefty) Gomez, star Soxman, joined the New York Yankees as they sent through training paces on Miller Huggins field today. Gomez had been a steadfast holdout, but (according to him) the club officials agreed yesterday to meet his terms and he signed his contract. He predicts at least 20 victories.

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., March 7.—Manager Bill Terry of the world's champion Giants announced today that Paul Richards will start the season as his first string catcher. Gus Mancuso, who has been ill in Houston, telephoned Terry last night that he would report on March 15, but Bill doesn't expect him to be able to play by the middle of May. Terry also announced that Travis Jackson would start the season at short.

ORLANDO, Fla., March 7.—Bob Quinn, general manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers, arrived here today and found four members of the squad still unsigned to contracts. They are Hack Wilson, Ray Benge and Jimmy Foy. Quinn doesn't anticipate too much difficulty bringing the boys into line.

NEW ORLEANS, March 7.—Word was received here at the Cleveland Indians training camp today from General Manager Billy Evans' offices at Cleveland that the tribe will present a much bigger picture when it takes the field April 17 than it had recently had for.

Earl Averill, rated as one of the most valuable players belonging to the Indians, finally gave in yesterday. It was announced, and accepted terms with the tribe. He will leave for camp today to don his uniform.

Jimmy Burnett and Harley Boss, infielders, and Dick Porter, outfielder, were the club's only holdouts today.

Over 14 million acres have been offered for reduction in the 875,970 cotton adjustment agreements tentatively examined by the AAA up to February 21. Indications are that the total reduction in 1934 acreage will be more than 15 million acres.

Connie Starts Rebuilding A's

DEMPSEY TO BOOK BAER, HAMAS BOUT

LUBBOCK, Tex., March 7.—Jack Dempsey today was planning on promoting a 15 round heavyweight bout in New York city this summer between Max Baer of California and Steve Hamas, the one-time Pennsylvania gridiron star.

In a telephone conversation with Baer's manager, Ancil Hoffman, Dempsey said he was told that Baer could be counted upon for a match with Hamas.

Dempsey said he expects a similar reply from Charles Harvey, manager of Hamas, whom the former champion queried last night. Dempsey arrived here to officiate at a boxing program.

Twenty-seven Ohio counties are named after Revolutionary War heroes; six after soldiers in the War of 1812.

Approximately 38 per cent of the mortgaged farms operated by owners in the United States were indebted for one-half or more of their value at the first of the year.

500 TO REPORT AT NOTRE DAME

SOUTH BEND, Ind., March 7.—Five hundred candidates for the 1934 eleven tomorrow will launch the Notre Dame university new deal in football under the stewardship of Elmer F. Layden, successor to Hunk Anderson.

Gridiron practice will get under way with Tom Conley, Joe Boland and Donald C. Grant assisting Layden.

State Relief Drops

NEWARK—Lowest in more than a year are relief figures for the latter half of December as reported from the 27 largest municipalities of New Jersey. In those places 221,435 persons were aided during the half-month. This is a drop of 35,069 from the November showing of 255,603, or 12.7 per cent. The tally is also 32,914 below the 254,448 reported for December 1932, or 12.93 per cent.

Receipts at the late fiscal setto in Miami were about 5 per cent of what such mammoth encounters of the century once drew. But in those days they had encounters.

About This And That

BY THE
SECOND GUESSER

A DELEGATION from here is expected to attend a meeting in Columbus next Monday evening when recreation ball will be the subject. It is called for all prospective sponsors and managers of a proposed major league of softball in your district.

It will be held in the members' lounge at the Y. M. C. A. Monday at 8 p. m.

Permission to use the Southern Ohio Electric Co. field in the rear of the W. M. C. A. power plant has been virtually promised by Charles T. Gilmore, local manager. It is hoped the field will not be flooded when time comes for the season to open. The location would have been available last year had the utility officials known there was going to be a league.

Although Pickaway-co has nothing to worry about in the way of tournament competition, many sport-fans will have their eyes on tournaments in various parts of the state with the Ohio tournament the goal of the various teams. Many hope to see George Vreeland's Dalton team go somewhere, although the class of the district in which it is located is known to be plenty fast.

AND now comes a yarn about Mr. Earl Young, who coaches the Chillicothe basketball team. It will be remembered that early in the year, prior to the Chillicothe-Circleville contest, Mr. Young stated to Chillicothe newspapermen that the Red Devils would not have much of a basketball team. Now he is claiming a good chance at the state championship. It's funny what can happen during a short cage season. Young lost one of his keenest athletes, Pete Conley, in that tragic train-auto crash when two other popular youths were killed, but his cage team has continued its winning ways. Greenfield has twice felt the wrath of the Ross contains this season. The Devils should easily defeat New Lexington in their first game this afternoon, then should not have difficulty ousting Wellston Thursday night. Marietta is the team in the district which competes at Athens that may toss a wrench into the Chillicothe machinery.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul. Your skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Request a substitute, 25c at drug stores. © 1931 C. H. Co.

"There's the doorbell again"

SUPPOSE daily to your door came the butcher, the grocer, the clothier, the furrier, the furniture man, and every other merchant with whom you deal? What a tedium of doorbell answering that would mean!

It would be even more impractical for you to visit daily all these stores to find out what they have to offer and the price.

And yet you need those merchants' service quite as much as they need your patronage. Contact between seller and consumer is essential in the supplying of human needs. Before a sale can be closed the goods must be offered. Every day, through the advertising columns of this newspaper, the merchants of this city come to your home with their choicest wares. Easily, quickly, you get the news of all that is worth while in the market-places of the world.

They are not strangers at the door, but merchants you know and trust. You are always surer of high quality and fair price when you buy an article advertised by a reputable firm.

Brown Assails Governor White's Administration

LANCASTER, March 7.—Assailing the Democratic state administration as "a far-flung political machine menace," Clarence J. Brown, twice lieutenant governor and three times secretary of state, today had called upon Ohio Republicans to unite for "a winning campaign."

Addressing the Lincoln Republican club here last night, Brown struck out boldly against Governor George White and members of his cabinet.

New jobs have been created "with offensive disregard of governmental efficiency," Brown charged. He censured particularly the state tax commission where he said 300 new employees have been added during the last two years, and the state highway department, which he asserted has been made "the great political finishing university of the state government."

URGES NO NEW TAX

Brown demanded that "no new taxes be levied for state purposes to add to the cost of living, to further burden those unable to pay and to embarrass business and delay recovery until first the extensive political machine of the present Democratic state administration is dismantled and the cost of state government materially reduced."

Although he has been mentioned frequently as a probable Republican candidate for governor, Brown gave no hint here last night as to his personal political ambitions.

"The personnel of the state ticket is of less importance than the fundamental principles upon which we stand, and our unalterable determination to make a winning campaign and return the government of our state to the people," he declared.

Brown also struck out against Governor White's refusal recently to take action against E. J. Hopple, chairman of the Ohio Public Utilities Commission.

"The governor sees no offense or wrong-doing in a member of the public utilities commission departing from the traditional role of an impartial judge and condemning those who seek a reduction in a regular and orderly manner of utility rates," he said.

participant in the noted Santa Claus bank robbery at Cincinatti several years ago, and Roy Thornton of Dallas, former husband of the notorious Bonnie Parker, now the gun-girl companion of Clyde Barrow.

Guards stationed along the wall opened fire as the convicts rushed for the walls. They attempted to scale the ladders but were driven back under the heavy fire of the guards.

RACED FOR WALLS

McArthur, Frazier and Finch fell wounded. Thornton and Hill surrendered.

The men got out of their cells by using a key they had made. They then broke a lock off a fire escape window and came down the fire escape. They raced for the walls, but were seen by the guards who opened fire.

Movies Help Children

PHILADELPHIA—Motion pictures make children think and feel and in some cases aid in their sleep, according to observations made by Dr. LeRoy Bowman, a Columbia University professor and a director of the Child Study Association. The main trouble with the movies, Dr. Bowman said, is that they depict more kissing than occurs in real life and too many murders.

Named in Mail Probe

LeRoy Bowman, son of Senator Simon D. Fess of Ohio, who was named recently as one of the scions of Washington officialdom who took part in the efforts of air lines to obtain mail-carrying contracts. Fess' name was introduced into the probe by Harris M. Vanhuse, air line executive.

Motiveless Murder?

Chicago police are mystified at the apparent motiveless murder of Eli Daiches (above), well-known Windy City advertising man, who was machine-gunned to death as he drove his car through one of the city's busiest thoroughfares.

rescuers arrived at the wreckage. There was no fire. Halgren had carefully cut his ignition switches before the crash.

COLUMBUS, March 7.—Walter N. Bell, one of the four victims of the airplane crash during a snowstorm last night near Pettersburg, Ill., was manager of the sanitary engineering division of the Jeffrey Manufacturing Co., in Columbus.

At the time of the crash he was enroute to Chicago following a sales tour throughout the middle-west. He had planned to return to Columbus the latter part of this week.

Although Bell made his home at the Athletic Club in Columbus, he was a native of Ashley, O., in Delaware-co where his parents now live. He is survived by his wife, who was visiting a brother in Illinois.

MOUSE IN CLOCK

QUINCY, Mass.—Living up to the fabled actions of the mouse in the poem "Hickory Dickory Dock," a frightened little mouse ran around on the face of a large clock of a gasoline station here during a fire. Somehow the mouse had gotten under the glass face of the clock. Firemen smashed the glass, and away scuttled the "cowerin' temerous, beastie."

Governor White to supervise guarding of the three gangsters, declared in his announcement of criminals that he "could not hope to maintain peace in the city unless these gangs are curbed."

He asserted that a political alliance exists between the underworld and certain politicians, but declined to make any specific charges. Local officials refused to comment.

OFFICE RANSACKED

General Brish also disclosed that the office of County Prosecutor Ernest M. Botkin, who is handling the state's case in the trial of Picopont, had been ransacked shortly before the trial got under way yesterday.

At the outset of the trial, Judge E. E. Everett, before whom the case is being heard, warned against any demonstration on the part of the spectators. He threatened to invoke the contempt of court laws if a demonstration is staged.

"The jury will try this case—not the spectators," the judge asserted.

DEERCREEK-TWP SCHOOL NOTES

The high school concert, announced for March 22, promises to be a "New Deal" in musical programs. Upon looking over the program one finds such numbers as: A Trip to Old Japan, Reminiscences of Bygone Days, Also an original skit entitled Old Songs vs. New Songs. We also find a number entitled The Recognition of Russia. There is also one number on the program that we are afraid to announce, because we have only 350 seats and could not accommodate the crowd were we to announce it. Tickets will go on sale soon at the popular prices of 10c and 20c.

Miss West, Miss Campbell, Mr. List, Mr. Smith, Mr. Miller and Mr. Bowers attended the county teachers meeting at Atlanta Saturday. They report a very enjoyable meeting.

Attendance this week has been unusually good, several rooms reporting 100 per cent.

Ronald and Francis Clark were transferred to the Madison-co schools last week. Donald and Ray will finish the term here to graduate with their class.

George Jacobs, Wanda, Wilda and Betty Estep were transferred to the Atlanta schools last week.

The senior class will go to Columbus next week to have their class picture made. In the afternoon they will visit such places of interest as: The Columbus Dispatch Printing Plant, The Ohio Penitentiary, The Ohio State Museum, and Station WAU.

and the editor adds these comments:

"It tells you of Cinderella ensembles that are one thing by day but which turn into something entirely different and vastly intriguing by night... It tells you how to make, for a few dollars, a coat which will look as though it had come out of one of the most expensive ateliers of Paris... It shows you the new fabrics!... How to look slim if you aren't... a treatise on self-made smartness explaining plainly, patiently, so that anyone can understand how to work wonders with a few yards of fabric..."

The fabrics—the new ones—are in the shops right now, and the new Spring edition of the Marian Martin Pattern Book may be ordered through the Pattern Department of this newspaper. If you will look for the pattern feature in today's issue you will learn how you may obtain this Book.

NRA Codes, Frequently Flouted, Seem Going the Way of Dry Laws

WASHINGTON — The hundreds of complaints against the Blue Eagle at the NRA "field day for critics" boiled down to four basic indictments.

One—Overwhelmingly overshadowing all else, is the charge of widespread non-compliance. Practically every one of the hundreds who testified, regardless of what else they had to say, made this accusation. The record of the five-ringed debate shows beyond all doubt that NRA codes are being disregarded as flagrantly as the late dry laws.

It is obvious also that unless the Administration begins "cracking down" on some really big offenders, the Blue Eagle is headed for the popular oblivion.

Two—Many employers are flouting Section 7a, the requirement for collective bargaining. With great bitterness labor spokesmen cited scores of such cases together with the government's failure to protect workers' rights.

Here is one case that was cited: The employees of the Sigmund Elser Clothing Co., of Redbank, N. J., went on strike to compel the company to abide by code provisions.

The controversy was laid before the National Labor Board. While the Board was deliberating, the company went into the courts, got an injunction against the strikers, and had five of the leaders arrested. The judge sentenced them to 90 days in jail plus a fine of $1,000.

The owners of the firm are related to Lester Elser, State NRA Administrator, now vacationing on a Mediterranean cruise.

Three—Virtually all codes contain wage, hour, and price differentials between the North and South, with those for the South creating a definitely lower standard.

Four—Seventy-one out of the 200 odd codes now in effect, contain provisions requiring women to work on the same jobs for less pay than men.

There was a fifth general complaint, less frequently voiced, but still of serious proportions. This was to the effect that many code authorities are packed with employers, who not only countenance, but actually participate in, violations, unfair trade practices, and chiselling.

Political circles are a-buzz following the announcement of Francis E. McGovern that he will seek a seat in the U. S. Senate as a Democrat. McGovern was elected Governor of Wisconsin in 1914 as a Republican. Later he served as Republican District Attorney of Milwaukee County. Now he is running on "Roosevelt or Ruin" platform.

General Johnson believes he can clean up this Ageean stable. He is a man of action. But it is going to take some pretty strenuous flapping of the Blue Eagle's wings if it is to soar higher in public opinion. In fact, it will probably never get there.

Boss

Harry Woodring, Assistant Secretary of War, is becoming cautious. Once a ready spouter to the press, three appearances before a District of Columbia grand jury investigating army contracts have closed him shut like a clam.

As he emerged from his last session with the grand jury he was approached by a group of newspapermen.

"Sorry," said Harry. "But General MacArthur told me not to talk."

Note: General Douglas MacArthur, Chief of Staff, is Woodring's subordinate, but actually runs the War Department.

Shell Game

Democratic House leaders are playing the old shell game with the Independent Officers appropriation bill amended by the Senate to restore $350,000,000 of veterans and federal pay benefits.

Having been amended by one body, the usual procedure would be to send the bill to a conference of committees of the House and Senate. If no agreement can be reached in conference, the measure is returned to the originating body for a vote on the disputed points. If it accepts the amend-all the customary fixing of the polls by the government party failed to prevent the Capitanos' men from registering 71,702 votes, or nearly 62 per cent of the total.

Cedreanu made another visit to Germany in the spring of 1933. His newspaper Calendarul thereafter blossomed out. By that time virtually the entire corps of university students was with him; nearly all of the urban youth, and some of the best families shocked their parents by announcing they had joined the Iron Guard. The statutes of the guard were, as one prominent Rumanian put it to me, "clearly worthy of the support of any decent citizen."

Anyhow there was a nice gangster that had a good lawyer. The lawyer stood in with the judge pretty well, and he told his Honor a hard luck story about the poor client who was about to be electrocuted. This here judge was the one that done the sentencing.

Judge I will tell you," says the lawyer, "this poor guy is a great athletic fan. He used to play baseball and run the high hurdles and he wasn't so bad at swimming and tennis. It's all right to bump him off, but the poor guy wants to see one more athletic event or some game before he dies. Won't you give orders to let him see a game and I'll see that you get a lot of publicity in the papers for it?"

So the judge wrote to the warden, "Let this guy John Callahan out in custody of my lawyer to see one athletic event before execution. Signed, Dickerson Judge." Then he added, "The prisoner may choose what event he wants to see."

And because of the example set by Hitler, Rumania today is not laughing at Cedreanu. The astonishing thing is that the murder of Duca created, it is true, an initial reaction against the Iron Guard, but today Rumanians of high degree are saying: "It is a shame that Duca was killed. But after all that boy who killed him is the first Rumanian in two generations to risk his life for an ideal. And isn't it true that the state needs cleansing? Isn't it true that the nation needs a rebirth?"

SAME OPINION

From a score of Rumanians came the same opinion: "This is not the end, but the beginning of the Iron Guard." And this at a time when the police with a thousand or more Iron Guard prisoners are using all the well known methods of the Balkan third degree to break their spirits.

Somewhat, the lawyer is hardly over there when his prisoner sets down in the electric chair. That makes it awful embarrassing for the prisoner, because he don't know where to turn for encouragement.

Anyhow there was a nice gangster that had a good lawyer. The lawyer stood in with the judge pretty well, and he told his Honor a hard luck story about the poor client who was about to be electrocuted. This here judge was the one that done the sentencing.

Judge I will tell you," says the lawyer, "this poor guy is a great athletic fan. He used to play baseball and run the high hurdles and he wasn't so bad at swimming and tennis. It's all right to bump him off, but the poor guy wants to see one more athletic event or some game before he dies. Won't you give orders to let him see a game and I'll see that you get a lot of publicity in the papers for it?"

So the judge wrote to the warden, "Let this guy John Callahan out in custody of my lawyer to see one athletic event before execution. Signed, Dickerson Judge." Then he added, "The prisoner may choose what event he wants to see."

So the lawyer got John to pick the next Olympic Games.

and the party that was laughed at so short a time ago is today the master of Germany and the bad dream of allied Europe. And because of the example set by Hitler, Rumania today is not laughing at Cedreanu. The astonishing thing is that the murder of Duca created, it is true, an initial reaction against the Iron Guard, but today Rumanians of high degree are saying: "It is a shame that Duca was killed. But after all that boy who killed him is the first Rumanian in two generations to risk his life for an ideal. And isn't it true that the state needs cleansing? Isn't it true that the nation needs a rebirth?"

SAME OPINION

From a score of Rumanians came the same opinion: "This is not the end, but the beginning of the Iron Guard." And this at a time when the police with a thousand or more Iron Guard prisoners are using all the well known methods of the Balkan third degree to break their spirits.

This is bad news for France. The head of the foreign department of a great French institution came to Bucharest to study the strength of the Iron Guard, of German influence in this important allied country. He went away

Mr. Hickman is noted for his fine musical programs and is always a welcome entertainer.

There will be several humorous skits and sketches beside the more serious musical numbers promising a diversified program for the entire evening.

Immediately after the entertainment refreshments will be served by the P. T. A. in the cafeteria. All members and friends are urged to attend.

FIRST CONTEST PROGRAM AT LUTHER LEAGUE MEET

The first of a series of contest programs to be presented at Trinity Lutheran League meetings was given at the League's March session Tuesday evening in the Parish house.

The meeting was opened with a devotional service led by the president, Rev. George L. Troutman. Following a short business session the program under the chairmanship of Miss Ruth Wolf was presented.

Howard Ater, as school master, conducted an old-fashioned school having as his pupils Miss Ida Walters, Gladden Troutman, Miss Eloise Hatso, Mrs. Willis Liston, Miss Viona Smith, Miss Mary Katherine Wolf and Miss Ruth Wolf.

The costumes of the pupils afforded much merriment. During the morning periods the master told of interesting facts about Ohio and the pupils had their reading, writing and arithmetic.

During the afternoon period a program in observance of Mother's Day was presented, Miss Walters singing, Miss Liston and Mr. Troutman singing solos and Miss Smith, and the Misses Wolf giving readings.

Judges of the program and of those to be presented in the future are Mr. and Mrs. Carl Leist and Mr. and Mrs. Austin Dowden.

A social hour followed the program during which a lunch was served to forty members and guests by the March committee, including Miss Jeanette Bower, chairman, Mrs. Willis Liston, Mrs. Gale Cragger, Miss Clarissa Talbot and Miss Dorothy Riegel.

GIVEN LIFE

Dr. Sarah Ruth Dean, 36-year-old child specialist, was found guilty Saturday by a Greenwood, Miss., jury and sentenced to life imprisonment in the Mississippi state penitentiary for the murder of her admirer, Dr. John Preston Kennedy.

Wynekoop's favorite son, Earle, was found chloroformed and shot to death on an operating table in the basement of the physician's home here last Nov. 21. The unclothed body was swathed in a blanket.

CITED TWO MOTIVES

The elderly physician was charged by the state with having killed Rheta to get $12,000 insurance which she held on the girl's life and to free her son from his unhappy marriage.

Judge Miller will hear a defense appeal for a new trial on March 24. If the plea is denied Dr. Wynekoop will then be sentenced to the prison at Menard, Ill., where she must remain for at least eight years before becoming eligible for parole. Now 63, Dr. Wynekoop would be 71 years old before the parole board could consider her case.

"It's just 25 years more than a life sentence," exclaimed George Faircl, brother-in-law of the doctor. "I think she will die in less than a year."

Dr. Wynekoop was permitted a few moments alone with her son, Walkey Wynekoop, and her physician-daughter in a court ante-room before being wheeled away to her county jail cell. There she renewed her protestations of innocence.

"It's a stretch of a verdict," said Walker. "I'm getting a $5,000 loan on some property tomorrow and we shall appeal."

Earle Wynekoop, the widower, was not in the courtroom. Throughout both trials he had remained conspicuously absent.

Burdine H. Gardner, father of the slain Rheta, was among the spectators and hurried forward to congratulate Prosecutor Charles Daugherty on the verdict.

"Of course it does not bring Rheta back," he said, "but justice has been done."

An overflow crowd packed the court room and corridors during the final day of the trial, listening with patience to five hours of final argument by state and defense attorneys.

CLAIMED HER LOVE

W. W. Smith, defense counsel, pictured the once prominent physician as a misunderstood mother-in-law who, because she loved Rheta as her own daughter, could not have committed the bizarre murder.

Smith contended that the killer was probably a prowler who had entered the Wynkoop mansion while Rheta was preparing for a physical examination to be given by Dr. Wynekoop. The attorney suggested that the girl's husband might have been the slayer.
